Binder Participation at CUWA 2013, Oct 31st to Nov 2nd in Changsha, China

The International Conference on China Urban Water Development and Expo of New Technologies and Facilities has been a fixture in the Binder calendar for several years and so the 8th edition of CUWA in Changsha, capital of Hunan province in China, again saw a strong Binder presence with a booth, a speech by Mr. Robert Binder on the subject „Commercial and technical consequences of various control valve designs in an aeration system” and no less than a world premiere.

In Changsha for the first time the newly developed VACOMASS[®] jet control valve was displayed to the International Water Community by Binder, attracting wide interest and leaving deep impressions with many professionals as a product designed exactly according to the needs of water treatment aeration applications that will bring energy savings and process control quality to a new level.

Better than 10 mbar ΔP , linear operation characteristic from nearly 0 to 100% stroke but also fully stainless steel design SS 316L, low maintenance, self-lubricating sparked a multitude of extensive professional conversations for which Binder would very much like to thank all visitors and participants, making the VACOMASS[®] jet control valve debut at the CUWA in Changsha a huge success.
